

IRYNA WOOD

CREATOR & CO-FOUNDER OF GEMININEARME

I'm the founder of the Gemini Near Me® app, a media host, and the author of Who Cares About Your Ex. Born in Ukraine and fluent in five languages, I bring over thirteen years of global counseling and mentorship experience to helping individuals and couples build self-trust, emotional clarity, and healthier relationship patterns.

My work centers on emotional intelligence and self-reflection, using a question-led approach that blends spiritual insight with practical tools for everyday life. I also host the Stars About Stars® podcast and create short-form street interviews inspired by my self-reflection card deck—all with the goal of helping people move away from external validation and build a stronger relationship with themselves.

MY EDUCATIONAL JOURNEY:

- I hold a Master's in International Economic Relationships and a Master's in Psychology
- I am certified in Personal and Relationship Coaching, ThetaHealing, Access Bars, Reiki, Sexology, Astropsychology and Numerology.

“As an author of five books, including my latest U.S. publication, Who Cares About Your Ex, I share my expertise widely. I also host the "STARS ABOUT STARS" podcast and the YouTube show "What Everybody Wants To Know".”

MY PROFESSIONAL VISION:

Over the years, I've seen that many people struggle not from a lack of opportunity, but from a lack of clarity about who they are, what they value, and what they truly deserve. Without that self-understanding, they often rely on external validation—from social media, cultural expectations, or others' opinions—to define their worth.

My mission is to help people build unshakable self-trust and emotional clarity so they can understand their patterns, honor their boundaries, and create healthier relationships. With over thirteen years of global counseling and mentorship experience, I use a question-led approach grounded in human behavior to guide individuals toward greater self-awareness and more confident, values-aligned decisions.

MY CORE PHILOSOPHY: I believe that true transformation begins with the relationship we have with ourselves. I believe self-love—rooted in deep self-understanding and acceptance—is the foundation for healthy relationships and lasting confidence.

Through a question-led approach, I encourage honest self-reflection, helping people build self-trust, gain emotional clarity, and create more aligned, fulfilling lives. Ultimately, when we commit to our own growth, we contribute to a more connected and emotionally aware world.
